THE WALTZ FAMILY

DEDICATED to
MY MOTHER

Compiled by
Carl L. Richman
Tipton, Indiana
November, 1926

FOREWORD

FREDERICK REINHART WALTZ, according to available records, was the first Waltz to set foot on American soil. He was banished from Switzerland in 1731 on account of his violent opposition to the increasing encroachments on civil and religious rights. The constitution of the Swiss Confederation declared a republican form of government, where all men were entitled to certain inalienable privileges. In the seventeenth century the rich and powerful, supported by the crowned heads of Austria, began to usurp authority and choose for their councils only their friends and relatives. By degrees these families perpetuated their posterity; by degrees the council renewed itself annually, until the sovereign power became exclusively hereditary in the families of the great council.

Thus the common people, although declared free by their constitution, were free in name only. Incensed at this outrage, Frederick Reinhart Waltz openly opposed the council. A martyr to the cause of civil and religious freedom, our patriotic, liberty-loving ancestor was banished from his native Swiss home in the Alpine range and sent to the wilds of America. On his arrival in New York City he was involuntarily apprenticed for eighteen months to pay for his passage across the Atlantic. To the memory of this man, who suffered banishment from his home and family and the persecution of enforced slavery for the cause of democracy, the lineal descendants owe honor and respect through all the ages to come.

The Waltz genealogical record is traced to Frederick Reinhart Waltz through his son, John Reinhart Waltz, who emigrated from Switzerland to America in the ship Phoenix on October 20, 1744 and settled in eastern Pennsylvania. Whether or not John Reinhart Waltz had brothers in this country is not positively known; however, it seems probable that Michael, Joseph and Hans Martin, who came to America in 1750, were also sons of Frederick Reinhart Waltz.

John Reinhart Waltz had five sons, viz:-Frederick, who was the father of the Daniel Waltz that married Hannah Kimmel; Peter and Michael, both of whom participated in the Revolutionary War; and John and Samuel. Frederick located about fifty miles northwest of Philadelphia in Berks or Schuylkill county, Pennsylvania; he married Mary Seltzer in 1779 and died in 1799.

Peter was born in 1751; in 1790 we find him in Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania. In 1800 he penetrated the virgin forests of Western Pennsylvania and located in Mahoning county, Ohio. Of a generous disposition, he sought out the poor and needy. One day he heard that a family by the name of Waltz had moved into the neighborhood and that they needed help. He said to his good wife that night, "Ich mus ga und saana eb ich denna ebbes helfa kon." That is Pennsylvania German for:- "I must go and see whether I can help them." Imagine his great surprise when he looked into the eyes of his beloved brother, Michael! After a lapse of forty years the two sturdy war heroes were re-united. Little is known of John and Samuel. However, it is thought that John is buried at Reading, Pennsylvania. Reading is the county seat of Berks county.

Frederick Waltz had seven children the youngest of whom was Daniel. Daniel had two sisters; Catherine, who was born in 1782, married Christian Shell and died at Lewistown, Pennsylvania; and Mary Magdalene, who was born in 1791, married John Foust, and died in Henry county, Indiana. A granddaughter, Dolly M. Foust, was born at Arcadia, Indiana. The brothers of Daniel Waltz were Frederick Jr., John Henry, Jacob and Peter. Frederick Jr. was born in 1780 and died in 1849 near Pershing, Indiana; a great-grandson, Henry W. Lafeber, was born at Shielville, now Atlanta, Indiana. John Henry was born in 1784 and died in 1870 in Miami county, Ohio; he was the grandfather of Colonel Lee Waltz, who compiled the Waltz record in 1884. Jacob was born in 1787 and died in 1868 near Cambridge City, Ind.; his granddaughters, Clara and Catherine Walter, and Edith A. F. Applegate, were born at Arcadia, Indiana. Peter was born in 1789 and died in 1862 in Wayne county, Indiana; his great-granddaughter, Alice M. Baker, was born at Ovid, Madison county, Indiana.

Daniel Waltz was born in Berks county, Pennsylvania on December 23, 1793. About 1812 he married Hannah Kimmel. In 1820 he and his four brothers came West with a view of settling near Indianapolis; in 1825 he settled about a mile from East Germantown, now Pershing, in Wayne county, Indiana. The other brothers with the exception of John Henry, who stayed in western Ohio, also came across the Indiana line and settled near Richmond. Daniel was a farmer and coffin-maker. His first wife died about 1840; about 1845 he married Catherine Burns, who outlived him a few years. A few of the older Waltzes can still remember Daniel Waltz and his second wife, for they frequently exchanged visits. Wayne, Henry, Madison and Hamilton counties were in the line of march between East Germantown and Arcadia; it was a sixty-mile trip over corduroy and mud roads and consumed about two days time. All of Daniel's children settled around Arcadis, but the father remained with his brothers in Wayne county. He died there in the spring of 1869 at the age of seventy-five years. Few railroads, no telegraph, no telephones, no automobiles, no radios were found in Indiana when Daniel Waltz lived here; only deep forests, wild animals, Indians and ague. Those were the days of the covered wagon, the pioneer days.

Today the Daniel Waltz-Hannah Kimmel family tree comprises almost nine hundred souls. In 1884, or forty-two years ago, this branch had only one hundred and seventy-one, as recorded in the genealogy compiled by Colonel Waltz. An increase of seven hundred in four decades. Almost three thousand names are listed in the Colonel's book. If the other branches have increased as rapidly as ours, then it is not exaggeration to say that the Waltz family in America now numbers more than ten thousand.

The first Waltz reunion was held in the Buckeye state. The invitation read:- "You and your family are hereby invited to be present at a Waltz family reunion to be held at the old Waltz church near Doylestown, Wayne county, Ohio on Friday, September 19, 1879. You are requested to invite anyone related to the family by blood or marriage." David Waltz of Wadsworth, Medina county, Ohio deserves the credit for starting the reunions; he was almost an octogenarian when he set about this labor of love, for he was born in 1802. He was the youngest son of Peter Waltz of Revolutionary fame and a first cousin of our common ancestor, Daniel Waltz. This David Waltz, tall, slender, agile as a man of sixty, was a striking figure not only at the first reunion but at many subsequent ones. The Waltzes are known for their musical talents; that the Waltz Silver Cornet Band, an organization then over thirty years old, played at this first reunion added much to the occasion. The crowd was estimated at one thousand. Both Doylestown and Wadsworth are only forty or fifty miles south of Cleveland.

The second reunion was again held at Doylestown. The third took place September 29, 1881 at West Cairo in Allen County, Ohio. West Cairo is a few miles north of Lima and about fifty miles east of Ft. Wayne. The fourth was held at St.Matthew's church, near New Cumberland in eastern Ohio. The fifth reunion was a two-day affair held at Wadsworth, the home of David Waltz, who founded the Waltz reunion association. The sixth was held at the National Soldiers' Home Dayton, Ohio on August 28 and 29, 1884.

The eighth annual reunion was held at Arcadia, Indiana on August 18 and 19, 1886. It was held on the old fair grounds west of the village, just accross the street from the Peter A. Waltz home of today. Two of Daniel Waltz's descendants live on this very ground now, viz:- Henry Waltz, a son of Daniel Waltz Jr; and Mrs. Curtis Sumner, a daughter of Mrs. Sarah Catherine Brenner and a grand daughter of Henry Waltz. Supper was served in the town hall above what is now the Frank Wolff general store. The venerable old David Waltz was present and remarkably spry for a man almost eighty-five years old. My father and mother were both in attendance at the reunion and they still remember seeing the tall, gaunt figure of David Waltz. They also remember how he hopped over the rows of board seats, remarking that he guessed he could do it if the rest of the young folks could. His mental faculties were unimpaired and physically he was still in sound health. Truly a remarkable character! He told the large audience that if any one could make a better speech than he did "to drive them up to the platform;" this of course after he had recounted some of the incidents of pioneer life. The crowd was estimated at one thousand.

The twelfth annual reunion was also held at Arcadia. The date was August 21, 1890 and the place the fair grounds. Good music, both vocal and instrumental, was a special feature at this reunion, just as it had been in 1886. A brass band of twenty pieces, composed largely of members of the Waltz family, entertained those present with choice selections. Jonathan Knause, a son-in-law of Daniel Waltz Jr., looked after the arrangements for both of the reunions held at Arcadia.

Daniel Waltz and Hannah Kimmel had eight children, two daughters and six sons. Named in order of birth they were:- Joseph, born 1813 in Pennsylvania, died 1884 at Arcadia; Daniel Jr., born 1815 in Pennsylvania, died 1895 at Arcadia; Sarah, born 1816 in Pennsylvania, died 1888 at Atlanta, Indiana; George, born about 1818, died about 1835; William, born 1821 died 1902 near East Germantown, Indiana; Henry, born 1826 in Wayne county, Indiana, died 1900 near Arcadia; Andrew J., born 1829 in Wayne county, died 1902 at Indianapolis; and Rebecca, born 1832 in Wayne county died 1913 at Atlanta, Indiana.

Joseph Waltz settled one mile north of Arcadia in 1837; about 1873 he moved to the Mt. Pleasant neighborhood one and a half miles southeast of Arcadia. The oldest living descendants of Joseph Waltz by his first wife are Mrs. Sarah A. Trietsch, age eighty-six, and Mrs. Judith Lorenz, age eighty; by his second wife, Peter A. Waltz, age seventy-one. All three live in Arcadia. The youngest doscendants by his first wife are Helen Jean and Hilda Jane Henderson, September 5, 1926, the twin daughters of Mrs. John E. Henderson of Atlanta. They are granddaughters of Mrs. Samuel Dickover, great granddaughters of Mrs. Magdalene Essig, and great great granddaughters of Joseph Waltz. By his second wife the youngest is Marilyn Louise Sumner, August 18, 1926, the daughter of Mrs. Claude L. Sumner of Indianapolis, the granddaughter of Mrs. Charles J. Richman and the great granddaughter of Joseph Waltz.

The Rev. Henry J. Lorenz of Solomon, Kansas and his son-in-law, the Rev. Ward Applegate of Centerville, Indiana belong to this branch of the family. Likewise the Henry Trietsch sons, who are musicians of national reputation.

Daniel Waltz Jr. lived two miles east of Arcadia. The oldest of his living descendants are Mrs. Frances Forbes, eighty-four; Mrs. Sarah Resener, eighty; and Miss Rebecca Waltz, seventy-eight; all living in Indianapolis. Eli Stalker of Westfield, Indiana, the husband of Catherine E Knause, is eighty-three years old. His wife is a daughter of Mrs. Mathilda Knause and a granddaughter of Daniel Waltz Jr. The youngest descendant is Robert Smith Jr., July 26, 1926, son of Robert Smith of Indianapolis, grandson of William Orestes Smith, great grandson of Mrs. Catherine Smith; and great great grandson of Daniel Waltz Jr. Others belonging to this branch through Mrs. Mathilda Knause are Rev. Orlando E. Tomes of Gary, Indiana; Mrs. Roger Merrill Barbour of Glen Ellyn, Illinois; Dr. Elizabeth Gillespie of Cincinnati, Ohio; Dr. Dorothy D. Teal of Los Angeles, California; and Mrs. George S. Hill of Paris, France. Rev. Tomes married Mrs. Kanuse's daughter, Edna Idonia. Mrs. Barbour and Dr. Gillespie are daughters of Mrs. Ernest H. Bierman of Bloomington, Indiana and granddaughters of Mrs. Kanuse. Mrs. Barbour is a June 1922 graduate from the Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore, Maryland, a training school for nurses, Dr. Teal is a daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Teal and Mrs. Hill is a daughter of Mrs. Charles T. Knipp of Urbana, Illinois; both are granddaughters of Mrs. Knause. Ralph H. Waltz, a lawyer, living at Arcadia is a son of Peter D. Waltz, the Arcadia banker, and a grandson of Daniel Waltz Jr.

Sarah Waltz, who married Jacob W. Whisler, lived one mile south of Atlanta. Mrs. Frances Whisler, age eighty-one, is the oldest member of this branch. She was the wife of Joseph Whisler and now lives with her daughter, Mrs. John Tucker, at Mineral Ridge, Ohio. Mrs. James Baden of Atlanta, a granddaughter of Mrs. Sarah Whisler, has three great grand children, viz;- James H. and Joe Logan Lilly, sons of Mrs. James H. Lilly of Elwood, Indiana and grandsons of Mrs. Edgar E. Bendler; and Ellen Kathryn Purtee, daughter of Mrs. James Purtee of Indianapolis, and granddaughter of Samuel O. Baden. These three children are the only Daniel Waltz-Hannah Kimmel descendants in the tenth generation from Frederick Reinhart Waltz. The youngest in the Whisler branch is Mary Elizabeth Whisler, daughter of Everett Whisler of Atlanta, granddaughter of Jacob Whisler Jr. and great granddaughter of Mrs. Sarah Whisler.

George Waltz died when about seventeen years old.

William Waltz left no posterity. For some twenty years he lived just north of the Whetstone farm on the Atlanta-Arcadia pike. About 1870 or a little later "he went back to Wayne" to live on the old Waltz homestead and take care of the farming and the coffin-making business established by his father. He was a very interesting talker and a lovable character.

Henry Waltz settled two and a fourth miles northwest of Arcadia on the farm where his daughter Mrs. Mathilda McCullen now resides. His oldest living descendant is Mrs. Sarah Catherine Brenner, age seventy-five of Atlanta; the youngest is Dorothy Ann Yates, July 15, 1924, daughter of Mrs. Kenneth Ernest Yates of Indianapolis, granddaughter of Mrs. J. A. McKee, and great granddaughter of Henry Waltz. Rev. William Waltz of Richardson, Washington and his son, Dr. Manford R. Waltz of Seattle belong to this branch. Eli Stalker's first wife was a sister of Rev. Waltz and a daughter of Henry Waltz.

Andrew J. Waltz lived in the northwest edge of Arcadia. Franklin Byron Waltz, age sixty-four, the town marshal of Arcadia, is his oldest living descendant; the youngest is Richard Owen Brinkman, February 8, 1926, son of Mrs. Raymond John Brinkman of Indianapolis, grandson of Andrew Elbridge Waltz, and great grandson of Andrew J. Waltz.

Rebecca Waltz, the baby of the Daniel Waltz-Hannah Kimmel family, married Samuel J. Hill and lived on a knoll just a half mile east of the traction station at Atlanta. She is the only one of her generation that I ever knew; needless to say she made a very deep impression on my mind. Of a jovial, loquacious disposition, with a really beautiful face and figure, I can see her yet, as she sat at the dinner table telling of "ye olden dayes." Engine was en-jine; her direct discourse accounts were invariably prefaced by the words, "He said, says he" or "She said, says she, and "Now, this is the way it was told to me." "As long as she had a board to lay 'em on," folks were always welcome at her home. Although she had no children of her own, she took in two homeless children and reared them to manhood and womanhood. They were Lew Orr, who now lives in Wayne county, and Ettie Bolton, who has gone on to a better world.

Now a few words in regard to the contents of this little sheaf of leaves and I am through. The work is divided into four parts: (1) A complete genealogy of the Daniel Waltz-Hannah Kimmel family in outline classification; (2) The War Roster of this family; (3) An abridged genealogy of the entire Waltz family in America; and (4) the soldier record of the entire family from 1775 to 1865.

Part one has a note of explanation at the beginning treating the abbreviations and terms used throughout the Daniel Waltz-Hannah Kimmel genealogy. To read the full meaning into the data set down concerning a given person requires a little study. We will take the case of Joseph Waltz, for our first example. He was in the fifth generation in America; the eldest son of Daniel Waltz and Hannah Kimmel; a grandson of Frederick Waltz and Mary Seltzer; a great grandson of John Reinhart Waltz; and a great great grandson of Frederick Reinhart Waltz. The star (*) shows that he is deceased; the absence of the equal sign (=) shows that he took part in no war. He was born in Berks county, Pennsylvania on December 19, 1813; by occupation a farmer and a carpenter; he came West in 1820; settled in Wayne county, Indiana in 1826; settled in Hamilton county, Indiana in 1837; and died near Arcadia, Indiana on October 13, 1884 at the age of seventy-one years. He was first married to Elizabeth Leonard in Wayne county in 1832 and later to Margaret Anna Bardonner at Cicero, Indiana on September 19, 1852. He had sixteen children, seven by his first wife and nine by his second wife; his descendants now number almost five hundred.

For our second example we will take the case of Sarah A. Waltz, the oldest living descendant of Joseph Waltz and oldest of the entire Waltz-Kimmel family. Referring to the record we see that she is in the sixth generation; the third child of Joseph Waltz; born near Arcadia on August 11, 1840; her present address is Arcadia, Indiana; she married Jacob Trietsch at Arcadia in 1859, therefore her name is now Mrs. Sarah A. Trietsch; she had eleven children, five of whom are living; she now has about one hundred descendants.

Part two, the War Roster, lists the war veterans in the Waltz-Kimmel family. This record includes those who have married into the family as well as the lineal descendants. It gives a brief military account of each. The only Civil War veteran in the family was Henry Essig, husband of Magdalene Waltz, and son-in-law of Joseph Waltz. The following are veterans of the World War;-Clarence Baden, Roger Merrill Barbour, Walter L. Bardcaner, Raymond J. Brinkman, William J. Buckley, Thomas Chamberlain, Clarence F. Doversberger, Elmer C. Doversberger, George L. Fischvogt, Raymond F. Forbes Wilmer Hill Thomas H. Jones, James Harry Lilly, Harry Lorenz, Stevens T. Norvell, Harry Waltz Resener, Robert Lee Resener, Luther Anton Richman, Claude Leslie Sumner, Donald C. Teal. Jonathan E. Teal, Paul Hamilton Teal, Edgar Walker, Harry Lee Waltz, Harry Peter Waltz, John Lewis Waltz, Manford R. Waltz, Ralph H. Waltz, Walter Monroe Waltz, Welcome P. Waltz and Ivan G. Whisler.

Part three and part four were gleaned from the Waltz Family History and Genealogical Record published by Colonel Lee Waltz of Alexandersville, Ohio about forty-two years ago. The older members of the family who still have copies of that slender volume should prize it highly and hand it down to the succeeding generations as a precious heirloom.

My only desire in sending out this little manuscript is that it may help to rekindle the old-time enthusiasm for family ties, that it may encourage the Daniel Waltz-Hannah Kimmel family to hold a reunion, and that it may lead the way for the many other branches of the great Waltz family in America to bring their records up to date. Our fathers were honest. God-fearing tillers of the soil, who were willing to live and die for the Christian ideals. We have reason to be proud of them. But what about us, their posterity? Are we following in their footsteps? Are we fulfilling our duties toward God and our fellowman? It took eight months to gather the material contained herein; sometimes information crept in at a snail's pace and the outlook was not so rosy. Then, for consolation I would call to my mind Aunt Becky Hill; she knew "the whole kit of 'em." The benignant and serene face and the many charming traits, which endeared her to the entire Waltz-Kimmel family, assured me that her people were not really indifferent to the sacredness of family ties.

NOTE

Mrs. George Krumanaker of West Adams Street, Tipton, Indiana is also a member of the Waltz family. Her maiden name was Laura A. Brumbaugh and she lived at Huntington, Indiana. Her father was Frederick Brumbaugh and her grandmother, Rebecca Brumbaugh nee Waltz. Her great grandfather was Frederick Waltz Jr., a brother of the Daniel Waltz who married Hannah Kimmel.

Rev. Ward Applegate of Centerville, Indiana is a descendant of Frederick Reinhart Waltz through the latter's great grandson, Jacob Waltz, who was a brother of Daniel Waltz. Sarah Ann Waltz, Jacob's daughter, married William Applegate. They had a son, Elmore Ellsworth Applegate, who is the father of Rev. Ward Applegate.

I live for those who love me,
Whose hearts are kind and true,
For the human ties that bind me,
For the task by God assigned me,
For the bright hopes left behind me,
And the good that I can do.

-George L. Banks.

"THOSE GOOD OLD DAYS"

By Frank Carleton Nelson

(80)

I've heard folks boast of the good old days,
And of the good old times, and the good old ways
Of pleasures sweet that they used to know,
In the care free hours of the long ago,
And I sometimes think, when I hear them tell
Of the olden times that they love so well,
That they stretch the truth just a little bit,
And seldom speak of the worst of it.

That the olden times were fair, 'tis true,
But I've often heard there was work to do,
And things were not convenient then
For the women folk or the working men,
So I've never longed for that good old day
Of the walking plow and the one-hoss shay,
Nor the cowhide boots that my granddad wore,
For I've heard that his feet were often sore.

When they cut the grain with a sickle knife
And the strongest girl made the finest wife,
When the kids all ~~all~~ worked through the spring and fall,
And seldom went to school at all,
When they toiled in the field till they often froze,
And went to church in their working clothes,
No doubt 'twas great, but it seems to me
That times were as tough as times could be.

The old washboard that they had to rub,
And the weekly bath in the old washtub,
And underwear of the coarsest wool,
And the trundle bed that was always full,
And the fly-blown fish in the wooden pail,
And the stinging swish of the old cow's tail,
Things like these and a thousand more
Have soured me, like, on the days of yore.

Now I wouldn't brag, for it's not my way,
But I'm strong for the times that we have today.
Just press the switch and the work is done,
And the hardest jobs that we do are fun.
I love to ride and I hate to walk,
And I sometimes think, when I hear folk talk,
That they tell the truth when they say to me,
These times are not what they used to be.

THE WAR ROSTER

Civil War 1861-1865

HENRY ESSIG (deceased) of Arcadia, Indiana had a long Civil War record. On August 30, 1862 he enlisted in Company B., 39th Indiana volunteer infantry. He was nineteen years old. This was later reorganized and called the Eighth cavalry. His first battle was at Lawrenceburg; at the battle of Stone River, Tennessee he was taken prisoner and confined in the infamous Libby prison. Being released after several months' confinement in an exchange of prisoners, he rejoined his regiment and took part in the battles of Tellahoma, Winchester, Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge and Atlanta, Georgia. From there he followed Sherman on his famous march to the sea. He was in Lexington when news was received April 14, 1865 of Lee's surrender to Grant. A short time later he was discharged at Greensburg, North Carolina; from here he made his way back to Arcadia after almost three years of service in the army.

The World War 1914-1918

A GENERAL GENEALOGY
OF THE ENTIRE WALTZ FAMILY IN THE UNITED STATES

In 1884 Col. Lee Waltz of Alexandersville, Ohio published The Waltz Family History And Genealogical Record. From this book the following statistics and condensed genealogy of the entire Waltz family in the United States have been painstakingly compiled. There are 2878 names in the genealogy. Of this number 2371 were the names of living Waltz descendants and after each name followed the address.

Waltzes were found in 23 states, 153 counties and 238 post office localities. 831 lived in Ohio, 808 in Indiana, 155 in Iowa, 103 in Michigan, 100 in Illinois, 80 in Nebraska, 47 in Maryland, 40 in Pennsylvania, 32 in Missouri, 30 in Kansas, 22 in Minnesota, 17 in Texas, 16 in Tennessee, 16 in Oregon, 13 in North Dakota, 11 in West Virginia, 10 in Oklahoma, 10 in Washington, 9 in California, 9 in Germany, 6 in Wisconsin, 5 in Kentucky and 1 in New York.

Of the 808 in Indiana 151 lived in Hamilton County, 114 in Wayne, 73 in Brown, 64 in Huntington, 58 in Crawford, 51 in Henry, 46 in Johnson, 35 in Fulton, 29 in Floyd, 20 in Madison, 19 in Randolph, 19 in Marshall, 15 in Marion, 15 in Blackford, 12 in Jay, 12 in Bartholomew, 11 in Adams, 10 in Cass, 10 in Pike, 8 in Franklin, 7 in Miami, 5 in Kosciosko, 5 in Allen, 4 in Washington, 4 in Putnam, 3 in Tipton, 2 in Jackson, 2 in Owen, 2 in Stueben, 1 in Howard and 1 in Wells.

Of the six divisions in the Waltz genealogy the first five comprise the names of those who can trace their lineage back to Frederick Reinhart Waltz. 1123 names are listed in the first division with addresses in 12 states and 55 counties. 762 in the second with addresses in 14 states and 55 counties, 72 in the third with addresses in 2 states and 4 counties, 302 in the fourth with addresses in 9 states and 20 counties and 228 in the fifth with addresses in 3 states and 9 counties. The sixth division names those families which have no record of their early ancestors; 391 names with addresses in 14 states and 34 counties.

In the first division 529 lived in Indiana, 142 in Ohio, 116 in Iowa, 46 in Nebraska, 22 in Minnesota, 15 in Kansas, 15 in Illinois, 10 in Texas, 9 in Oregon, 8 in Missouri, 7 in Tennessee and 4 in Michigan. The descendants of Daniel Waltz and Hannah Kimmel make up the fifth branch of this division.

There are seven branches in the first division. 275 names appear in the first branch, 395 in the second, 68 in the third, 172 in the fourth, 171 in the fifth, 2 in the sixth and 38 in the seventh. In the first branch there are 6 from Hamilton Co., Ind.; in the third 16; in the fifth 124; and in the seventh 5. All the Waltzes in Hamilton Co. belonged to the first division.

In the fifth branch of the first division all the living descendants resided in Indiana; 124 in Hamilton Co., 12 in Marion, 3 in Tipton and 2 in Wayne. It is of interest to note that there were more Waltzes in Hamilton Co., Ind. than in any other county in the United States and that they were all lineal descendants of Frederick Reinhart Waltz through his grandson, Frederick. Other counties in high numerical rank were Montgomery Co., Ohio with 133, Medina Co., Ohio with 116 and Wayne

Of the more than 238 post-office addresses given in the Waltz genealogy 63 were in Indiana as follows: Anderson, Arcadia, Argus, Ashland, Bourbon, Bunker Hill, Burket, Cadiz, Cambridge City, Ceylon, Cicero, Cleona, Cordray, Deerfield, Dublin, Edinburg, Ewing, Ft. THE WALTZ FAMILY REUNION

The organization started on Friday Sept. 19, 1879 at the old Waltz church near Doylestown, Ohio and is still intact.

The idea of a reunion of the Waltz family in America was first conceived by the Misses Celesta and Millie Waltz. Their father, the venerable octogenarian, David Waltz, was heartily in favor of the idea and for years no reunion was complete without Father David.

In 1879 the Waltz Silver Cornet Band, an organization then over thirty years old, furnished the music. The first officers were: Pres. E.G. Waltz, West Cairo, Ohio Vice Pres. David Waltz, Wadsworth, Ohio Sec. E.L. Waltz, Delta, Ohio Treas. Joel Waltz, Akron, Ohio Corresponding Comm: Charles Waltz, Madison, Wisconsin Rev. Alvin Waltz, New Cumberland, Ohio Reuben Waltz, Akron, Ohio Isaac Waltz, Independence, Ohio G.W. Waltz, Whittlesy, Ohio J.M. Waltz, New Philadelphia, Ohio.

The second reunion was again held in Doylestown which is about 30-40 miles south of Cleveland. The next four were held in West Cairo at St. Mathew's Church near Cumberland; Wadsworth and the Nat'l Soldier's Home, respectively.

The eighth reunion was held at Arcadia, Indiana on Aug.18 and 19, 1886. On Wed. the old Fair Grounds began to stir with life and on Thursday, the visiting continued. The c d was estimated at considerably more than 500.

The tenth reunion was held at New Cumberland, Ohio.

The twelfth reunion again came to Arcadia Wed. Aug. 21, 1890 The Secretary, Jonathan Knause extended an invitation to all who are related to the Waltz family by ties of blood, marriage or sympathy.

Last year the Daniel Waltz- Hannah Kimmel branch of the Frederick Waltz division of the Frederick Reinhart Waltz family in America started a reunion organization at Tipton Park, 300 members were present. The officers: Pres. Peter D. Waltz Arcadia: Vice Pres. Charles Richmond Tipton: Sec.Treas. Catherine Essig Atlanta.

The Waltz family dates back to 1831 in America. In that year, Frederick Reinhart Waltz was banished from Switzerland on account of political reasons. He landed in New York City. Thirteen years later his son, John Reinhart Waltz, also came to our shores. Two of John's sons, Peter and Michael, were in the Revolutionary War. John's oldest son, Frederick, was the father of Daniel mentioned above. In 1884 the family numbered about 3000, including 50 Civil War veterans Genalogy shows an increase of 700 souls since the old Civil War Vet. Col. Lee C. Waltz published his record 44 years ago. At that time, this branch numbered 200 and now is 900, most of whom still live in the viminity of Arcadia.

COPIED FROM NEWSPAPER CLIPPINGS

John Lorenz was born in Wurtenberg, Germany, March 18, 1839 the son of Mr. & Mrs. Conrad Lorenz. At the age of 18 he started for America. It took 45 days for the vessel to c) across the ocean.

His sister came to this country, settling first in Reading, Pa. Then the father, mother and two other sisters came later in 1856 reaching Hamilton County in 1857. His father owned a farm up near the county line and then moved to Bartholomew County and later they returned to this county. His father died in 1886 and his mother died in about 1896 at the age of 97. The deceased is the last of the original family that crossed the ocean.

Mr. Lorenz always had a very interesting story to tell which happened on his journey over here. While on the vessel he saw in the far distance with his naked eye, a small object. He called the attention of the officers and after studying the object for some time as it became larger, everyone was commanded to take their post. After an hour and a half passed, the object appeared in sight and it proved to be an American ship with flying Stars and Stripes. The German boys on the boat cheered the flag for the U.S.

Mr. Lorenz was married to Judith Waltz, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Waltz, in 1862. On Feb. 6, 1912 the Lorenz's celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

He was a member of the German Lutheran church and has always been an active member. Father of 13, 10 of them living, they being Henry-Burr Oak, Kansas Joseph-Indianapolis John-Cicero Monroe-Alexandria Ed and Oliver, four daughters, Mrs. Daniel Knapp, Mrs. Tom S s, Mrs. Will Caylor and Mrs. Frank Raquet. He also has his wife to mourn his loss.

The burial will be on Friday, the funeral party leaving the house at 10 o'clock and the services will be at the Lutheran Church at Arcadia. Rev. Schimmel will officiate. Interment at Lutheran Cemetery.

HONORED 83rd BIRTHDAY OF JUDITH LORENZ

Guests were seated at a long table. Mrs. Lorenz offered prayer in both German and English. After the bounteous dinner, the regular monthly business meeting was held during which the favorite songs of Mrs. Lorenz were sung and she sang two German songs. She possesses a voice that is wonderful for one of her age and a memory that surpasses many a younger person.

Mrs. Lorenz is remarkably young in appearance and manner. She lives alone during the summer and in winter spends her time among her children and friends. Of a cheerful disposition, her mind clear and alert, she is welcome wherever she goes.

Her parents were Joseph and Elizabeth Leonard Waltz born Oct. 5, 1846 near Arcadia where she resided all her life time. After her marriage to John Lorenz Feb. 6, 1862 she still retained her residence in the vicinity of Arcadia and for a number of years they owned the farm east of Arcadia near the Lutheran Church where she held membership since childhood. They were devout in their adherence to their faith and her church fills her heart. She is a faithful a ndant whenever it is possible for her to be there. Soon after the death of the husband and father Oct. 19, 1915 she purchased a property in Arcadia near the church.

OUR PAPER HANGER

Winter was on its last legs. Already women folks were looking forwrd to spring housecleaning, and, its ally, wallpapering. Ruth Lorenze, Cicero, and Lida Frazier, Arcadia, are well known all through this territory for their fine work. Ruth gave me her story:

Lida Frazier was first married to Charlie Lorenze, a cousin of mine. She learned paperhanging from her brother, Dave Overman, then worked for herself, then friends. She was widowed with a son to take care of and began doing it for a living. Later she married Alvie Frazier.

I needed a job. I had helped paper at home, and thought I could do it, so asked Lida for work. At that time she had a lady from Omega helping her; and she said, "Well, I'll keep the lady helping me with all the orders up around Omega; all those from Cicero and Arcadia, why, you help me."

We started out getting 25c a double roll for hanging. Wallpaper cost: cheap paper, as low as 15c, other 25c and 30c, as well as I can remember. I can remember when we made $3 each and we thought we were something.

Border counted as one double roll. Most of the rooms run about three ceilings and five to six sidewalls, according to matches and openings--windows and doors.

Lida told me, when I took the job, that she would split with me. She did. I did all that I could do to help cardboard boxes, marked the place where the plaster was gone, cut it out to fit as best we could, then nailed it to the lath and then took pieces of old sheets or clothes, then pasted them over that real good and let it dry. We went all over that wall and mended it as best we could. The real bad places were down just above the baseboard. After mending it all, we papered. You can hide a multitude of sins under wallpaper. It was after dark when we finished those two rooms. They were so thrilled that it just made our hearts glad that we took the time. She had done washings to buy new curtains to hang up and you never saw a happier person over anything in your life.

At home, we'd think: "This ain't right...that ain't right..." "I want this...I want that." Well, you know, we found out when going into places like that, seeing how other people had to do, it was perty good for us. When we went home we felt we were perty well off.

We liked to start on the job at seven in the morning. Some people in town were a little slow in being up, but a lot of our work was for country people and we always wanted an early start so we could finish one room by noon. Then we'd have the afternoon for the other room--we did two a day. If we didn't have too much carpentering, we'd get finished by five.

One place in Tipton County we worked, we were papering two rooms across the front of the house.

ner get that paper on, didn't make no difference what it was...pasting, cutting. I helped her get the long strips on the ceiling. She could have started it herself, of course she could, she was a paper hanger. She'd hung a lot of paper before she'd ever saw me. I used to crawl up on the board and ladder and help her get her first strips started because if she got it started straight, the rest was a lot easier.

Butting. That's when you trim both edges. It has to be "plumbed down"--run a line from the ceiling, draw lines down, so it comes perfectly straight. Walls need to be perfect, or there will be gaps between strips. It was an exacting job. Lida just wouldn't take on jobs that needed to be butted. She said on old walls it was so much more successful to lap, stayed better and edges didn't curl as much. Butting was a finer job and much more expensive. Ben Lyons was a paperhanger in Arcadia and he did a lot of butting that we wouldn't do. He did fine work. In Cicero and the Palley Cook family of painters and paperhangers did fine work. There was Tom, Everett, Kenneth, Bud, Clark and Wayne, all helping their father.

In older houses most of the walls were terrible. Course, not all, but most. In the middle of the night, a loud POP, and they knew the wallaper had burst, probably over the heating stove. Sometimes the plaster gave way and it had to be replastered. Did we ever have to plaster walls? Oh, my stars, Honey! They were supposed to have the room ready, but if you'd seen what we'd walked into a lot of the time, you'd wonder what they called ready. There were dark water spots from rain under windows and around chimneys, and they didn't want that to come through. There were spatters of all kinds in the kitchens.

I never will forget the kitchen and living room we did for some very poor, destitute renters. When we got there we wondered how in this wide world we'd ever put wallpaper on. You know, you could see daylight through the walls, right through the plaster and all. We took I was pasting away and working fast and all at once we heard a clock strike. It hadn't gotten through striking till we heard another, then another, another, all kinds of tones and tunes. I said to Li, "Why, what in the dickens are we in?" When the lady came home, I said, "My goodness, have you got a clock shop?" "No," she begin to smile, "I'll bet you heard all these clocks striking." Then she showed us. They had clocks everywhere. Even she opened the basement way, and they were hanging full down there. Her husband loved to tinker with clocks. If he'd find one in a trash pile or one thrown away, needed working on, he'd take it and make that thing run if he could. Then he kept them all running. She just laughed, "If you want to take time and go to the barn, he's even got them out there and all a going." There were all kinds, from Grandfather clocks down to tiny ones, big clocks, little clocks. I always liked to hear a clock strike, especially during the quiet of the night. I miss our old clock awful.

For years we made our own paste. We took flour, stirred that up with some cold water to a paste, then poured in the boiling water and stirred that in good. I've made gallons and gallons of it. After a while they had prepared paste on the market and of course we used that.

We've had problems where paper wouldn't stick on the walls, especially upstairs where farm women used calcimine on the walls. I never used it in my life, but it was, as I remember, kind of like paint, come in different colors, then brush it on.

When we begun to paper, so many people seemed to think they'd be cheated in the number of rolls used. Now, if your room took three ceilings and border and say six side walls, they'd put one or two rolls back, not lay them out where you could count them on your job. First thing we'd do was to go in and set up the tables, get the paper they had and count the rolls and write them down. So if the room took six side walls and you got down to five, and five wouldn't do it, we'd ask and then they'd bring the sixth roll out. They claimed that a lot of the men paperhangers would fudge--cut more than what they really needed for a room, and would cut from a new roll when they could have finished up with a piece of a roll.

We had our faults the same as anyone else, but we don't have to answer that we ever cheated anyone. If we had a cut-up room that we thought took six sidewalls, when we seen when we got down to the fifth roll that we could piece it without going into the sixth roll, we'd give you your choice, piece or use another roll. Some women, like the ladies who wanted the butting work, they wouldn't have had a strip pieced for any amount of money. But you'd be surprised at the ladies who would rather have you piece than use the extra roll. They could take back what wasn't used.

We were in a spot upstairs one time. Remember those little hip-roofs? We had one of them, and had to piece till it looked like a crazy quilt! We didn't mind piecing out if we had a couple long ends where we could match and make it so it wouldn't be so conspicious, or if it was in a corner where a bed or chest stood in front of it.

When we first started out, we didn't take our lunch. If we were in the country, almost always they insisted on giving us our meal. But the town people weren't as much so, not that there was anything the matter with them, just different. We got so we preferred taking our lunch because we couldn't tell just to the minute when we could finish that room. Sometimes, if we had real good luck and the room wasn't difficult to paper, we'd finish up at 11:30. Sometimes it'd run until after 12. If we took our lunch, we could sit down on the floor or a stool and eat, and wouldn't bother anyone, unless it was people who just insisted we eat with them...then it seemed we lingered a lot longer, and it took us longer to finish up in the evening.

We just hated getting a hold of stairways. I remember one time in Arcadia, up at Pete Whisman's house, oh, they had the highest stairway, oh, my goodness sakes alive! We papered the rooms, then there was that stairway. We pulled our board way out, and when we got out in the middle, so high up off the floor, it would just shaaaaakkkeee.. We had Lida's husband, Alvie, to come then and help us as we were both so scared. It was right at the first of my paperhanging and I wasn't accustomed to it. Some people wondered how we'd keep from having those long, long strips from wrapping all around us, but we got along perty well. I don't ever remember cutting one in two, to make it easier. It was hard work, those long ceilings.

I'll tell you another dandy stairway. It was out at the old Charlie Long place, where Whitie Mosbaugh, I think lives there now. Oh, boy, that stairway was a doozie! Up in the front of the house run a great big hall aaawwaay uuuppp! Two stories, I think! Oh, that was hard. WE used to dread that! Did it, I think, two or three times. Alvie helped us with that one also. As long as he was willing we called him in on the hallways.

Some of the rooms had been papered, then painted, then papered on top of that, then painted, till it had seven or eight layers. I guess this was good insulation against the cold, but what a job when it all had to be torn off down to the plaster.

We were lucky we didn't have any accidents. The only one I remember was when Lida was standing on the board, not very high, just to the second wrung of the step ladder, and her scissors, were sticking out of her apron pocket, points up. The board slipped off, she caught herself, but cut her arm on the scissors.

When we first started papering we wore dresses to work in. In those days women were not wearing blue jeans and pants, only to work in factories. We got into some perty ticklish spots, especially in those high stairways. It wasn't very nice having the women and children gazing up, let along some men coming from the field with his eyes gazing up, "How are you getting along?" and there we were standing up so high with our arms thrown way above our heads balancing a strip of pasted wallpaper! So we finally went to overalls.

At one place the preacher stopped by. In those days, the house was always "orderly" for the preacher when he came. I scrounched way down over in a corner where he couldn't see me. Li was way up on the ladder doing the ceiling, and was mortified to tears as he looked the room all over!

I'll tell you one place we had just a barrel of fun. We used to paper for Floy Nance, and her mother, Mrs. Rena Hill. It was an upstairs room, a hot summer day. Along in the afternoon Mrs. Hill came up, "It's time to take time out and brought fresh-baked cookies just out of the oven and a pitcher of ice-cold lemonade. Then we saw Floy's head coming up through the stairway, she joined us and then we all sat on the floor and ate, drank, joked and talked and laughed so

It was a lot of hard work but we enjoyed it very much. Lida and I and our families became great friends. We liked all the people we worked for, and looked forward to going back and papering for them again and again. Even today people come up, remembering when we did their work. They were all lovely, just lovely.

it'll we'd charged a quarter extra for moving, or the piecing to save a roll, they'd died!

much. We really had to hurry to get our room finished on time that day.

Most places we papered, little kids would go scattin' in and out of the rooms. One boy came in the room and watched us a while, then went out of the room and told his mother, "Them women in there are just ruining the place...they have paste all over the wall and a mess all over the floor." Little kids would take the edges with paste on them and put them on the wall, most of them certain they'd be paperhangers when they grew up.

Sometimes we had to get everything all ready ourselves, moving all that there was moved. If they had everything all moved out, that was the secret in our getting our work done in good time. We could come in and within an hours time we could get the ceiling cause we'd have a full sweep with nothing in the way. But if we'd have to take half the furniture and put on the other side of the room and crowd up the other side, we spent our time moving rather than putting on paper. It was that way in kitchens, and every house always had the kitchen papered when we went into were very poor, but we wouldn't have offended them by not accepting to eat with them, even though we knew they didn't have much to eat, ever.

She had a great big pot of turnips cooked, canned stuff mangoes, homemade bread and butter and a big pot of coffee. That was our dinner.

Now, I'm not making light of the dinner; but I couldn't stomach turnips! But, I had to be polite. Li, course she knew I'd never eat turnips, and she looked at me with a twinkle-smile, she kept kicking me under the table, but I never batted an eye. One thing about it, I was hungry. They passed the turnips around. I didn't want to take out just a little tiny amount, not a lot, and I didn't know how I was going to do it. I took a nice helping, got me a piece of bread and butter and started in. The coffee finally washed those turnips down. I guess maybe it was just the principle of having to eat them, cause every since that I don't turn up my nose at turnips. Those people were so darling...it was all they had and they wanted to share. When a person gives you all they have, that's love.

I helped Lida hang paper for 17 years. During WWII men paperhangers went into the defense plants and we were terribly busy. Then Kem Tone became popular and women could paint over their wallpaper, it was nice and much cheaper.

Waltz Family History

Published 1884

Record of persons, named Waltz, who emigrated from Switzerland to America, as reported by Prof. L.D. Rupp in his collection of 30,000 names of Swiss and German emigrants to the state of Pennsylvania.

Frederick Reinhart Waltz 1731

Three different Swiss historians, in referring to the same people, one calls them Waltzes another Walsers and a third Voltzers.

The recognized head of the first five divisions of our family record is Frederick Reinhart Waltz, who was banished from his native land in 1731. He was the first man by the name to step on American soil. The causes that led to his banishment were his violent opposition to the increasing encroachments on civil and religious rights. The Constitution of the Swiss Confederation declares a republican form of goverment, where all men are entitled to certain inaleinable rights. In the seventeenth century the rich and powerful, supported by the crowned heads of Austria, began to usurp authority, and chose for their councils only their friends and relatives. By degrees these families perpetuated their possession of the goverment; by degrees the council renewed itself annually until the Sovereign power became exclusively hereditary in the families of the first council. Thus by degrees, the Comman people although declared free by their Constitution, were so in name only. They were made ineligible in the exercise of goverment, and subject to the dictates of a few ruling families.

An unjust acquired sovereignty, however good and wise it may be, never effaces by its virtues the stain of original injustice, and always trembles for its power.

Murmurings against the hereditary power of a few families began to burst forth in open revolts, but the ruling power, supported by decrees from the Pope of Rome and Austrian bayonets, enforced silence. Conspiracies were formed, the prisons the executioner's block, and banishment followed.

There lived there at the same time, many wealthy men of respectable families who mourned in silence over the down-trodden rights of the common people and lamented that the chartered prerogatives of the citizens could not be maintained against the power of those who now sat, like hereditary lords, in their council ha

These rulers, in league with the Pope and leading cardinals, kept adding fuel to the unchristian hatred they had inaugurated between Catholics and Protestant cantons, thus for a time diverted the attention of the common people from their actual oppressors.

To unmask and expose the hypocrisy of the priest craft, and treachery to the constitutional rights of the people by the ruling families, our patriotic, liberty-loving and noble great ancestor, Frederick Leinhart Waltz became a martyr to the cause of civil and religious liberty, for which he was banished from his native Swiss home, in the Alpine range, to the wilds of America in the year 1731.

On his arrival in the city of New York another insult, even worse than banishment was perpetrated on this noble advocate of the rights of his fellow-man by the sale of his body into slavery, to pay his passage across the sea and required to labor eighteen months to redeem banishment from his home and family, and the persecution of enforced slavery for the cause of liberty and justice, the Waltz families of America, especially those of his lineal descendents owe honor and respect through all ages to come.

[illegible] this man [illegible]

A son, John Reinhart Waltz, who emigrated from Switzerland to America in the ship Phoenix October 20, 1744 settled in Eastern Pennsylvania. The sons of John Reinhart Waltz were: Frederick Peter, Michael, John and Simon or Samuel.

Frederick Waltz, grandson of Frederick Reinhart was married to Mary Seltzer in the year 1779 and located either in Berks or Schuylkills County, Pennsylvania. We have no historical records of his life. He died in 1779 leaving a wife, five sons and two daughters.

In 1815 Henry and Jacob visited York, Lancaster, Montgomery & Lehigh Counties in Penn. consuming four years. In 1820 the five brothers came West with a view of settling near Indianapolis. John Henry settled near Chillocothe, where he remained fourteen years then moved to Allen County.

Frederick and Peter, settled near Alexandreville, Ohio and remained there a few years, when they joined Jacob and Daniel near East Germantown, Wayne Co, Indiana where they purchased adjoining farms and prospered in a social and business way, leading exemplary lives. Frederick died in 1849 Peter 1862 Jacob 1869 and Daniel 1869. They all reared large families who settled at different points in Indiana. They were honest and upright, progressive and prosperous. They established schools and Churches and built for themselves a monument in human hearts.

Donald and Dorothy Peterson's children

Dawn Elizabeth, born December 8
James David, born January 17
John Robert, born July 12

Arthur Button was a drayman in the town of Richmond, Quebec where he had a general store which he had to sell when he got polio. Polio left him with a traumatic heart. His wife had to take on the responsibility of supporting the family. Aunt Mary Lockwood who boarded with them in the house on College Street in Richmond along with several other people during the war said that Grandpa spent a lot of time reading the paper, visiting with friends and puttering around in the garden. He was a companion who had many friends, he was a Grand Master Mason and he A Masonic Funeral. If you ever wanted to join the Masons you would be able to through this relationship.

Donald Button was athletic, being active in pole vaulting, high jumping and running. He liked to hunt and fish. He was intelligent, but spoiled by his parents. He had Burgers disease which was aggravated by smoking and drinking. He died of coronary thrombosis.

John

William married Elizabeth Roberts, they had two children Donald and Audrey. I am in touch with Audrey's daughter Nancy.
Henrietta never married. She was a teacher in Montreal.

John, I think is the one who moved to the Boston area of the States. I have pictures of this side of the family.

Mary Maria (Miriam) had her Grade taker's papers and she traveled from house to house nursing for families. After her husband was ill, she supported the family in this way.

I thought that I had all this information figured out but Aunt Gertie added to it and then Doug McCourt became very interested in the Paterson family, so my original stuff needs to be corrected or improved.

The Robert Paterson, son of James and Jane, was a stonemason in Scotland before emigrating. I have a copy of the sale of goods from Scotland. The house he built is still standing in good condition on St. George Street in Windsor. The Patersons were one of the first families to build away from the river.

I have a copy of the letter that Margaret Swan wrote to her sister Jane in 1852.
